SHALL WE?—

Shall Hondo and Medina county invite the experiences of Goose Creek and Mer Rouge?

Since the white man chased the Comanche out of this country and made it a decent place to live in, descendants of the Irish and of the Deutsche—and all other nationalities of Caucasian blood—have dwelt together here in peace and harmony. The white man and the negro have lived side by side without either being in fear of the other.

The Jew and the Gentile have traded together without either being suspicious of the other.

Both the Protestant and the Catholic have knelt in undisturbed worship of the same God at the altar of his own choice.

And the creedless man has communed with his God in secret to be rewarded by Him openly.

Why disturb a tranquility that has existed for so long and in which we have grown up to all be friends, regardless of race, color or religious faith?

We ask this in all seriousness in view of disturbances that have destroyed the peace of other communities.

We ask it at this time because the fact that some six or seven cars of our citizens—impelled by curiosity, no doubt—went to Sabinal recently to hear a Ku Klux lecture has started a lot of wild rumors that are already causing people who have grown up from childhood side by side to look with suspicion upon each other, and talk business discriminations.

Because a man is willing to listen to a matter discussed is no proof that he approves, or that he is ready to participate in midnight orgies out in a pasture somewhere under cloak of darkness and a bed-sheet hood.

We wonder if any of our citizens have done such a thing, as it is being rumored about town that they have?

This writer heard probably the first public lecturer who ever discussed the Ku Klux Klan from a public forum in Texas, and though we understand that one of the oaths of membership in the Klan binds the member to deny membership, we have no fears that anyone who knows us personally will take our condemnation of the Klan as evidence of adherence to it.

It is to be hoped that all will eschew the bringing into our community life of this disturbing element that has brought so much trouble to other communities.

It is to be hoped that the neighborly confidence in each other that has long made this community such a delightful place in which to live will not be needlessly disturbed or destroyed by suspicions and hates.

If it ever is, and Hondo becomes an armed camp of neighbors ready to murder each other on the slightest pretext and another Mer Rouge crimsions and blackens the pages of its history, no one can shake his gory locks at this paper and say you warned us not.

DEVINE MAN WILL RUN FOR SENATE IF DUDLEY BECOMES EL PASO MAYOR.

Austin, Texas, Feb. 14.—Grover C. Morris of Devine, in Austin Wednesday, declared he will be a candidate to succeed State Senator R. M. Dudley, of El Paso, in the event the latter is chosen Mayor of his home city at the forthcoming city election and which would necessitate his retirement from the Senate. Morris is to have no walkaway. Just before leaving for El Paso Wednesday afternoon via San Antonio, Representative John E. Quaid, veteran lawmaker and chairman of the House Committee on Appropriations, said he is a candidate to succeed his fellow-townsmen in the event of Dudley's success. And Representative Walter C. Jones of Del Rio added that he (Jones) may be a candidate for Dudley's place.

Quaid was so enthusiastic about going home to help Dudley that he didn't remain to see the first open brush over his proposed constitutional convention. Morris is a former lawmaker and formed attorney of Medina County and well known over the district. He was the author of the "Bootleggers" bill in the 37th Legislature and was commended by Governor Neff for his efforts to help the executive stamp out rum running and tequila drinking. Morris says he will raise the Ku Klux Klan issue in his expected candidacy and that he will be just as anti as speech and actions can make him be.

Jones and Quaid are warm friends and sit next to each other in the House. It is not believed they would oppose each other for the Senate and that the double barreled candidacies talked of would melt into one with Quaid holding the right of way so far as Jones is concerned. Of course, there are a number of "ifs" in the way. Dudley must be nominated and then elected before he is ineligible to longer retain his seat in the Senate.

The Legislature may have adjourned by that time. In that event, it would take a whole lot to cause the Governor to order a special session of the lawmakers. Political jobs of the size of a senatorship don't go begging. Morris is law partner of John T. Briscoe who ran against Congressman John N. Garner last year. This senatorial district stretches from the Bexar County line to the Sunset, includes within its tremendous length the crystal waters of Medina Lake and the end of the international bridge at El Paso.

INSPECTOR COMING.

Austin, February 13, 1923
Mr. W. N. Saathoff,
County Superintendent,
Hondo, Texas.

Dear Sir:

The Rural School Division of the Department of Education will send one of the State Supervisors, Mr. Wm. Eilers, to your county for the purpose of visiting and inspecting the state aid schools. He will arrive in time to begin inspection on Monday, February 19.

It is very essential that the trustees of each school meet the supervisor at the time of the visit to their school, for discussing matters of interest to the school and community.

You are, therefore, requested to assist us in the work by preparing an itinerary of each day's visiting, and at once notify the trustees of the day and hour when you and the inspector will be present. Please include also in this itinerary the independent districts which are applying for state aid.

Sincerely yours,

ROUND ABOUT THE HOME

YOUR 1923 FOOD BUYING.

By Helen H. Downing.

This is the season of analysis to the home manager who has really set sail. To steer her home craft successfully to the selected port by the safest and straightest course requires brains and constant use of them.

The busy home manager will take a part of the long winter evenings to look into the various phases of family expenditures and activities. As these expenditures and activities are her craft, she must use all her ingenuity with her family, which may be a more or less temperamental crew, to straighten out any obvious defections from the main course.

Possibly she has a budget. She certainly should have, as there are so many excellent suggestions for making one in the National Women's Magazine and in the bulletins issued by the State Colleges and University Home Economics Department.

Of course any system established in a home must be very flexible, as the real comfort and happiness of the family is of first real importance in getting co-operation.

In the established home, the buying of food comes first in importance in the matter of expenditure analysis, as almost half of the average income is spent for food.

As this is true, there are certain questions every buyer should ask themselves:

"Do I always buy by brand name and remember the satisfactory brands to re-buy?"

"Have I taken pains to see that the food coming to my house has been handled under sanitary conditions?"

"Am I patronizing the conscientious producer of clean quality foods?"

Progress along these lines by the food manufacturer began over two generations ago, and the possibilities of advancement were so much greater than those then realized that Edward Bellamy and others looked forward to the time when the preservation and manufacture of foods would no longer be a source of drudgery for the housewife, and when even the preparation of meals would be a matter of only community interest.

One of the factors which have contributed largely to this growth of the food manufacturing industry is the great increase of population in our Urban Centers. Flat life has taken the place of the house with its large gardens, and the number of people totally deprived of fruits and vegetables of their own growing is greater than ever before.

The manufacturer supplies the needs of the flat dweller, since for her to buy these perishable foods on the open market and preserve them for winter use is in most cases an economic waste. The housewife ultimately pays not only the farmer's price for the fruit shipped to the city and the cost of transportation, as well as the retailer's profit, but must also ultimately pay her share in the loss and deterioration suffered by these perishable foods the time in transit.

Although greater faith is being placed each day in purity and wholesome of these manufactured goods, the housewife does not as yet wholly trust the cupid of the manufacturer against the temptation to substitute inferior materials nor does she consider the manufactured article, devoid of the personal care and touch given in the home, equal to the product which she herself prepares and values more highly on account of her own personal effort and endeavor.

Some lines of manufacture are entirely outside of the possibilities for the housewife. The condensing of milk with a large vacuum pan and the manufacture of dried milk form emulsions in tell tower dryers which are necessary in cases where it is impossible for her to attain what the manufacturers carry out so perfectly, and with such great advantage to our present civilization.

In some cases where it is impossible for her to carry out a process in the old home the crude way, experience has taught her it is better to rely upon the manufacturer with his skilled chemists and efficient apparatus. This is true in the case of baking powder. The housewife was formerly more or less content with mixtures made in the home and the ingredients crudely measured by the teaspoonful. But with the coming of baking powder furnished by the manufacturer, she found that she had a product more perfectly neutralized than she could even approximate, and that gave constant and sure results.

When the manufacturer entered the field, it was not long before he improved even upon the materials which she had been using. Today we have the improved combination baking powder which with its perfect neutrality and perfect keeping qualities, and with its property of giving off a large quantity of gas in the cold mix and a large quantity while heating in the oven, insures the housewife against failure and makes the most wholesome and perfect biscuits and cakes.

Consider your food expenditures. Every time you buy products from your corner grocer, you are wielding your portion of a great economic power.

If you are interested in raising market standards, you will disregard unfair advertising by unscrupulous manufacturers and will influence your dealer to keep the highest quality brands of foods for your family's use.

IF SICK, BILIOUS!

START YOUR LIVER

Don't Take Calomel! "Dodson's Liver Tone" Acts Better and Doesn't Gripe, Salivate or Make You Sick—Don't Lose a Day's Work—Read Guarantee

Ugh! Calomel makes you sick. It's horrible! Take a dose of the dangerous drug tonight and tomorrow you may lose a day's work. Calomel is mercury or quicksilver which causes necrosis of the bones. When it comes into contact with your bile, it causes contact poisoning. This is when you feel that your liver is torpid and bowels constipated or you have headache, dizziness, coated tongue, if breath is bad or stomach sour, just try a spoonful of harmless Dodson's Liver Tone tonight. Here's my guarantee—Go to any drug store and get a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone for a few cents. Take a spoonful and if it doesn't straighten you right up and make you feel fine and vigorous I want you to go back to the store and get your money. Dodson's Liver Tone is destroying the sale of calomel because it is real liver medicine; entirely vegetable, therefore it can not salivate you or make you sick.

THE PASSING OF A GREAT LUTHERAN LEADER.

Rev. Lauritz Larsen, D.D., S.T.D., LL.D., President of the National Lutheran Council, departed this life on Sunday, January 28, at Hamot Hospital, Erie, Pa., after a brief illness of one week with pneumonia. He had arrived in Erie, Pa., on Saturday, January 20, having gone there from attendance upon the Annual Meeting of the National Lutheran Council at Cleveland, Ohio, on Thursday, January 18. He had a full schedule of services planned on the World Service Appeal in the Erie churches for Sunday the 20th. He was suffering from a cold during the Cleveland meeting. Dr. Morehead says: "Dr. Larsen and I roomed next door to each other at the Hotel Cleveland during the recent meeting of the National Lutheran Council. We were together for an hour or so Thursday night after the meeting and on Friday morning we breakfasted together and remained in conference until twelve o'clock. He seemed much better with his cold and told me that, while he was tired, he felt even better than the previous day. I was greatly impressed during the long and trying meetings of the Council on Thursday and Thursday night, at the vigor and strength with which Dr. Larsen presided. He was at his best. Especially in his address at the evening meeting did he measure up splendidly in the presentation of gripping European conditions, the important service rendered by the National Lutheran Council, and the necessity of continued effort. Dr. Larsen did not impress me as being a sick man, but rather as one in full vigor of mind, body and spirit, although he was suffering from a cold." Dr. Larsen had not fully recovered from the severe strain of his five months trip to Russia, in the interest of the National Lutheran Council's relief work there, and without doubt, the strain he had endured in the awful conditions that ever confronted him lowered his resistance and made it impossible for him to counteract the sickness that caused his death. It may truly be said that he was a martyr to the cause. He gave up his life that others might live.

Dr. Larsen, who was forty years of age, was one of the best known ministers in our church; stood high and was beloved and respected where he was known. He sustained most exceptional and high relations in his dealings with the American Relief Administration with whom the National Lutheran Council has been in complete co-operation in its work of relief.

It is very evident now, what was not rightly considered before, that his whole physical being had been so weakened through the hardships of his Russian work that a rest and a change were imperative before he undertook the trying work of the manifold details of his office upon his return to this country on December 9. He practically went direct from the dock to his office, and there was no cessation of work, no rest for his weakened body. It was so hard for him to readjust himself to the things so pressing upon him, for he said his mind and his heart were still in Russia, and it was hard for him to bring himself to realize that he was back in America. He remarked at times that it seemed he could not get warm. This certainly was an indication, at the time not recognized, of the low ebb to which his physical condition had come. Added to this was the continual spectre of the awfulness of the many scenes of horror that he could not dash from his mind.

The workman has gone to the home of rest and of peace, but the work for which he gave his life dare not falter nor stop. In the very prime of life, with an unusually fine and strong physique and an excellency of mind and heart seldom met with, he is suddenly cut off from the manifold and important activities in the church, leaving the church under God to measure the worth of a great life spent in her service, sacrificed upon her altar, and now trustfully looking to the great Head to raise up a leader to carry on where he has left off. In Dr. Larsen's death the whole church sustains a great loss, and the National Lutheran Council a leader and executive, a worker that will be difficult to replace.

Dr. Larsen was born in Decorah, Iowa, November 28, 1882, the son of the late Rev. Dr. Peter L. Larsen, who for more than forty years was head of the Luther College at Decorah, and one of the best known educational writers in the country. Dr. Larsen graduated from Luther College at Decorah, Iowa, and Luther Seminary at St. Paul, Minn. He received honorary degrees of D.D. from Thiel College, Greenville, Pa., S.T.D., from Pennsylvania College, Gettysburg, Pa., and LL.D., from Muhlenberg College, Allentown, Pa. He served as pastor in congregations at Plaza, North Dakota, Cresco, Iowa, and Brooklyn, New York, and has held positions as trustee, director, editor, teacher, school principal, and author. He translated from the Norwegian O. Klykken's "Youth and Christianity". He was very active in the hospital work in Brooklyn where he had his residence, and was president of the Norwegian Deaconess Home and Hospital of Brooklyn.

At the Annual Meeting of the National Lutheran Council in Cleveland, Ohio, on January 18, Dr. Larsen presented the greatness of the need of European Relief, and the imperative necessity of its continuance through our church in this country as well as the support necessary for European Foreign Missions. He so ably outlined the whole work of the Council in its relief and other forms of activity as an agency of the Lutheran church bodies in America, that there was a unanimous response on the part of all present to continue the Council's most essential work for the church.

Dr. Larsen is survived, besides his wife, by two daughters, Tora Marie, and Ingeborg; two sons, E. Lauritz and Herman; his mother; four sisters, Hanna Astrup Larsen, editor of the Scandinavian-American Review; and Ingeborg, Karen and Signe; and three brothers, the Rev. Nikolai Larsen, a missionary in China; Jacob Larsen, a teacher in the University of Washington, and Henning Larsen, a teacher in the University of Iowa. The funeral services will be held in Zion church, 63rd street and 4th avenue, Brooklyn, New York, Thursday afternoon, February 1, at 2:00 o'clock.

Washington, D. C.

Dear Mrs. Larsen: In all my long associations with men who have devoted themselves to the relief of innocent sufferers from the errors of peoples and the brutalities of war, no one name stands out more nobly than that of your husband. He was faithful, wise and just. The American Relief Administration was happy in association with him. My fellow-workers and I pray the privilege of sharing in your grief at his loss and in your pride that he was one of the finest type of American citizen.

Herbert Hoover.

THE RAIN.

In the matter of moisture, Medina county was never in better condition at this time of year than at present. Following the rain, sleet and snow of last week, old Jupiter Pluvius again got busy this week and up to Friday morning a total precipitation of 2.65 inches of rain was recorded by the gauge of Judge H. E. Haass, the U. S. voluntary observer for this section. This moisture is timely, coming just at corn planting time, it practically insures the oat crop, and means early grass and weeds for the stockmen.

Business which has been rather slack for sometime should receive a new impulse from weather conditions and indications now are that this section will enjoy one of the most successful business periods for some years. Optimism again reigns, and the pessimist has been forced to take a back seat. Rain was still falling at noon Friday and indications are that the end is not yet. Thus far this month we had a total of approximately four inches of rainfall.

Elmer Bendeke, the 12 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Bendeke, is here at the home of his aunt, Mrs. August Schmidt, recovering from a broken leg. Elmer, a student at the Enterprise school, and a playmate were engaged in wrestling last Friday, and in falling, Elmer's leg was fractured above the knee. Surgical assistance was summoned. The injured member adjusted and owing to the youthfulness of the victim of the accident it is probable no permanent injury will result from the mishap.

HOME.

By Edgar A. Guest.

Home ain't a place that gold can buy
or get up in a minute;
Afore it's home there's got t' be a
heap o' livin' in it;
Within the walls there's got t' be
some babies born, and then Right there ye've got t' bring 'em
up t' be women good, and men;
And gradjerly, as time goes on, ye
find ye wouldn't part
With anything they ever used—
they've grown into yer heart;
The old high chairs, the playthings,
too, the little shoes they wore Ye hoard; an' if ye could ye'd keep the thumbmarks on the door.

Ye've got t' weep t' make it home,
ye've got t' sit and sigh,
And watch beside a loved one's bed,
an' know that Death is nigh;
An' in the stillness o' the night t'
see Death's angel come,
An' close the eyes o' her that smiled,
an' leave her sweet voice dumb.
Fer these are scenes that grip the
heart, an' when yer tears are dried,
Ye find the home is dearer than it
was, an' sanctified;
An' tuggin' at ye always are the
pleasant memories,
O' her that was an' is no more—ye can't escape from these.

Ye've got t' sing an' dance fer years,
ye've got t' romp an' play,
An' learn t' love the things ye have
by usin' 'em each day;
Even the roses 'round the porch
must blossom year by year
Afore they 'come a part o' ye, sug-
gestin' someone dear
Who used t' love 'em long ago, an'
trained 'em jes' t' run
The way they do, so's they would get
the early mornin' sun;
Ye've got t' love each brick an' stone
from cellar up t' dome;
It takes a heap o' livin' in a house
t' make it home.

TO MAKE PIGS PROFITABLE
KEEP THEM GROWING STEADILY.

"The profitable pig", says the United States Department of Agriculture, "is the one that never stops growing from the time it is farrowed up to the time it is hauled to market." The wise hog grower stimulates growth in the pig before the litter is farrowed by keeping the sow in good condition. It is assumed that the sire and the dam are of the right type, big and growthy.

Pasturage of good quality, shorts or middlings, fish meal or tankage to furnish protein, with sufficient corn or barley to keep them in fair flesh, make up a list of desirable feeds for breeding hogs. Alfalfa, soy bean, or clover hay are valuable additions for winter feeding and may be scattered out so as to induce the sows to take exercise daily, a great necessity for breeding hogs.

Sows must be well fed to raise good pigs, but this does not include the day before and the day after farrowing. For 24 hours before and after farrowing the sow should have no feed, but tepid water should be constantly available. After this fast, feed should be given in small quantities at first, then gradually increased up to full feed within 10 days. Even before the pigs are weaned they should have access to shelled corn in self feeders as a supplement to the milk from their mothers. As soon as they are weaned they should be kept on full feed, either on self-feeders or by hand. Pigs that are well fed and have enough exercise will reach market weights at about 8 months of age.

Next time ask for REDSKIN TUBES.
